Contents of International Studies of Management & Organization
Vol. XVIII (Spring 1988–Winter 1988–89)

Spring 1988/Vol. XVIII, No. 1

Strategic Management Research
I. Strategy Content: Firm, Industry and International Environments
Guest Editors: Howard Thomas, Professor of Strategic Management, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign
John McGee, Fellow, Templeton College, Oxford, England

Howard Thomas (USA): Introduction

Avi Fiegenbaum (USA), John McGee (United Kingdom), and Howard Thomas (USA): Exploring the Linkage between Strategic Groups and Competitive Strategy

Michael Hergert (USA): Causes and Consequences of Strategic Grouping in U.S. Manufacturing Industries

Nigel C. G. Campbell (United Kingdom): Market-share Patterns and Market Leadership in Japan

Alan M. Rugman (Canada): The Firm-specific Advantages of Canadian Multinationals

Summer 1988/Vol. XVIII, No. 2

Strategic Management Research
II. Strategy: Process Aspects
Guest Editors: Howard Thomas, Professor of Strategic Management, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign
John McGee, Fellow, Templeton College, Oxford, England

Howard Thomas (USA): Introduction

Sebastian Green (New Zealand): Understanding Corporate Culture and Its Relation to Strategy

Frans G. J. Derkinderen (The Netherlands) and Roy L. Crum (USA): The Development and Empirical Validation of Strategic Decision Models

Taieb Hafsi (Canada) and Howard Thomas (USA): Understanding the International Competitive Behavior of State-owned Enterprises

David Norburn (United Kingdom), Sue Birley (United Kingdom), and Mark Dunn (USA): Strategic Marketing Effectiveness and Its Relationship to Corporate Culture and Beliefs: A Cross-national Study

Fall 1988/Vol. XVIII, No. 3

Designing and Conducting International Management Research Projects

Guest Editor: Betty Jane Punnett, University of Windsor (Canada)

Betty Jane Punnett (Canada): Introduction

Frank A. Heller (United Kingdom): Cost Benefits of Multinational Research on Organizations

Fritz Rieger and Durhane Wong-Rieger (Canada): Model Building in Organizational/Cross-cultural Research: The Need for Multiple Methods, Indices, and Cultures

Ann C. Séror (Canada): Cross-cultural Organizational Analysis: Research Methods and the Aston Program

Betty Jane Punnett (Canada): Designing Field Experiments for Management Research Outside North America

Lorna L. Wright, Henry W. Lane, and Paul W. Beamish (Canada): International Management Research: Lessons from the Field

Simcha Ronen (USA and Israel) and Oded Shenkar (Israel): Clustering Variables: The Application of Nonmetric Multivariate Analysis Techniques in Comparative Management Research

Donald M. Wood (Canada): Bridging the Gap between Researcher and Practitioner

Winter 1988–89/Vol. XVIII, No. 4

Organizational Behavior (OB) for Social Development: Some Third World Perspectives—I
Guest Editor: Pradip N. Khandwalla,
Indian Institute of Management
Vastrapur, Ahmedabad, India

Pradip N. Khandwalla (India): Introduction

Pradip N. Khandwalla (India): OB for Social Development: A Position Paper

Subhash Durlabhji (USA and India): Development without Decay: The Role of OB

Anil K. Gupta (India): The Design of Resource-delivery Systems: A Socio-ecological Perspective